Mr. Harry E. Walker, a valued member of the board of trustees since 1909 and for most of that period its treasurer, resigned from the board in the summer because of his change of residence. Miss Margaret Kent was appointed to fill the vacancy. The Library lost a faithful and painstaking janitor by the sudden death of Mr. Frank E. Rollins early in July. Mr. Rollins took a special interest in the Library and devoted the greater part of his time to the care of the building, doing much more than was required of him for the convenience of the librarians.

Miss Knight, who has charge of the children's room, is doing good work there. This important department is growing in interest and numbers and we often have more children than chairs. During the past year we have been vigorously building a castle in the air and we hope to find someone who will put a foundation under it. Perhaps some resident, or former resident of the town, would consider it a privilege to be the means of doubling the capacity of the children's room. The land is there, the plans have been considered, but the where-with-all is yet to come. Our interest in this project is so great, that we almost have courage to believe that something may be accomplished before another winter.

Robinson Female Seminary

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

To the Honorable Board of Trustees of Robinson Female Seminary:

The scholastic work of the present year, in general, has been very satisfactory. Most pupils have shown earnestness of purpose and have succeeded in their studies.

The standing in colleges of Seminary graduates, which continues to be excellent, recently has brought expressions of approval from college authorities and has given some privileges which the school greatly values. Wellesley College now allows the school to omit from scholarship credential blanks a great amount of detailed enumeration which formerly was required. At the close of the last semester, the Seminary stood several points higher on the honor roll at New Hampshire College than many schools sending to the college ten times as many students. Normal schools and commercial schools have added their testimony to the same purport. An especially high rating was given to the Seminary for the past year by the school inspector of the State Board of Education.

On the side of school discipline a report must be less satisfactory. During the early part of the year, class room discipline presented unusual problems. Fortunately, many of the difficulties have been lessened greatly through increased skill and efficiency acquired by younger teachers. The situation has demonstrated anew the wisdom of retaining experienced teachers of demonstrated ability.

The resignation of Miss Clara M. Burleigh at the close of the last school year was a serious loss to the Seminary. Since 1908 she had served the school with exceptional ability, tact, and dignity.

A teacher of known ability was secured as her successor, Miss Aldine L. Merrill, a graduate of the Seminary in the class of 1916 and of Mr. Holyoke College in 1920.

The addition to the teaching staff of Miss Edith Carleton, a graduate of the three-year course in the Keene, N. H., Normal School, has made it possible to devote to the pupils of the entering class the attention which is essential to their scholastic progress. Without this additional teacher the exceptionally large enrollment for the present year of 300 pupils would have made impossible really satisfactory instruction.

During study periods all pupils go to the room reserved for study on the second floor. This arrangement is of great advantage both to the pupils in recitations and to those who are engaged in study. A serious disadvantage, however, is caused by the fact that the room is very poorly lighted on the corridor side.

Additional artificial lighting facilities are needed, if dangerous eye strain is to be avoided. Gas light has been unsatisfactory; in part due to poor quality or low pressure of gas, and in part to an insufficient number of fixtures. If the number of fixtures were increased so as to give adequate illumination, a further serious handicap would be imposed upon the problem of ventilation, because an amount of oxygen would be consumed which would interfere seriously with a system of ventilation which, in cold weather, already fails to meet the standard required for health.

Proper electric lighting would remove the features of gas lighting, which are especially objectional in a structure of such architectural arrangement as the Seminary building, and would give access to an electric current which would make possible the use of a stereopticon, reflectroscope, or moving picture machine. A large number of the best schools are finding these inventions for visual teaching of very great value in many lines of school work. There are strong arguments for the addition of an equipment of this sort.

Work in science classes would be improved if electricity were available for experiments.

A thoroughly modern Domestic Arts equipment includes at least one electric stove for demonstration purposes in cooking, and some of the various other electric devices that are being used in the household. They should be added to the Seminary equipment as soon as possible.

The typewriters in the commercial room which have been in use since the course in commerce was established are so much worn that some new machines ought to be purchased for the work of the next school year.

Economy demands the protection of the Seminary buildings by repairs and painting. In this report it is not necessary to enumerate the details of the need, since they have been called to your attention in previous reports.

Many considerations justify a conviction that in the immediate future the Seminary will render to the community a service of great usefulness. By no means the least of these considerations is the confidence that as in the past, so in the future, the genuine interest of the members of the Board of Trustees will express itself in generous effort, in unfailing courtesy, and in constant support of teachers devoted to the welfare of the school.

Respectfully submitted, .

HARLAN M. BISBEE.
